

Because—

- 1—it is a Six
- 2—it has a 50-horsepower engine
- 3—a Six is smooth and quiet
- 4—of its long engine life
- 5—for average driving, it gives 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline
- 6—it uses much less oil
- 7—the engine is the valve-in-head type
- 8—the valves are easily adjustable
- 9—the engine has a 48-pound accurately balanced crankshaft
- 10—it has a torsional harmonizer

Because—

- 11—the carburetor is equipped with an accelerating pump
- 12—each cylinder and valve is surrounded by water, giving uniform cooling
- 13—the engine is equipped with an air cleaner
- 14—it has a crankcase ventilator
- 15—it has a hot-spot manifold
- 16—the carburetor is fed by a positive fuel pump
- 17—the oil pump is of the vane-type
- 18—the piston pins are made of chrome-vanadium steel, chromium-plated
- 19—the spark plug wires are heavily insulated
- 20—the Delco electrical system is protected with a fuse

Because—

- 21—the valve-operating parts are sealed and automatically lubricated
- 22—the special Chevrolet combustion chamber makes high compression possible with ordinary fuel
- 23—the engine is equipped with lightweight, bronze-bushed pistons
- 24—the full ball bearing steering gear is provided with Alemite fittings
- 25—it has a Harrison honeycomb radiator
- 26—it has a 107-inch wheelbase
- 27—the frame is longer than the body
- 28—the frame has four rugged cross-members
- 29—it has four long chrome-vanadium steel springs
- 30—the springs are 84% as long as the wheelbase

Because—

- 31—it has four Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers
- 32—the shock absorbers operate uniformly in winter and summer
- 33—it is equipped with a dry disc clutch, requiring no lubrication
- 34—the clutch is self-adjusting
- 35—the clutch starts the car smoothly and transmits all the engine power
- 36—the front axle is held in alignment at four points by the two front springs
- 37—the braking action throws no strain on motor, clutch or transmission

WHAT'S HAPPENING IN VIRGINIA

President Hoover and his party narrowly escaped serious injury last Sunday returning from the "Summer White House" when the Rapidair, when an automobile driven by a New York woman crashed into one of the cars in which the presidential party was traveling near Falls Church, Va. No serious injuries resulted, however.

The fact that John R. Jeter, who served for over 20 years as document clerk and librarian of the Virginia Senate, is now on the payroll as "Senate Janitor" was revealed last week. At the same time it was learned that O. Victor Hanger, clerk of the Senate, whose salary was raised substantially in the 1930 session to $8,250 per year, pays Mr. Jeter $700 a year to carry out the duties of the document clerk and librarian, which position was abolished in 1928. Mr. Jeter's pay as "janitor" is $1,525 per year, while the prevailing rate for janitors in Capitol Square is only $1,250.

H. D. Adams, of Stop 5, Petersburg turnpike, has a curiosity in a dead four-legged chick. The baby chick was killed several days before it was due to hatch, when the egg was crushed by the brooding hen. All four legs are perfectly formed, and there is no mistaking the fact that it had hatched. It would have grown up into a four-legged chicken.

Joseph C. Shaffer, Republican Congressman from the Ninth District of Southwest Virginia, will seek to retain his seat in the November elections. After declining to run for reelection some months ago, he has been persuaded to reconsider, following G. Bascom Slemmons' refusal to make the race. John W. Flannagan of Bristol, is the Democratic candidate.

The first step toward actual realization of the "Colonial National Monument" created in the Jamestown-Williamsburg-Yorktown area by the Federal Government, is being taken this week by A. E. DeLoach, acting director of the National Park Service, and two assistants, who are making an inspection there. A complete survey will be made later, and actual development of the park will begin in the fall according to present plans.

First results of the bill enacted at the 1930 legislative session which permits counties, cities and towns in Virginia to install voting machines has been approved by the State Board of Canvassers, were seen last week when it was announced that the Richmond City Electoral Board would meet with the State Board on July 25 to consider such a step. A Baltimore vote machine manufacturer will be in the meeting.

Douglas Longstreet Tuggle, prominent Blackstone tobaccoist, died at his home last week, and was buried in Lakeview Cemetery, Blackstone. He is survived by his widow and five children.

New uniform rates on ground limestone in Virginia have been prescribed by the Interstate Commerce Commission, and are interpreted by the State Corporation Commission, as being beneficial to the farmers of the Old Dominion. They will become effective on September 22. The rates are lower than those which had previously been prescribed by the I. C. C.

Rates prescribed range from 56 cents per ton single line, minimum carloading 50-

100 pounds, for five miles, to 72 cents for ten miles, 60 cents for fifteen miles, $1.68 for seventy, $1.92 for 100, $2.32 for 200, and $2.88 for 300 miles.

Pendleton Strother, of Roanoke, was appointed by President Hoover as collector of Internal Revenue for Virginia, replacing John C. Noel, who had held the post since the administration of President Harding. Strother's appointment was urged by C. Bascom Slemmons and others. He is a native of Giles County.

Milton Wood, 19-year-old Green County youth, told of Herman Casey, 44, also of Green County, who was killed by a truck and got out and shot Wood, who was on Casey's truck, said Casey rifled Casey's pockets, and then pushed his car into woods, subsequently pouring gasoline on the body inside, and setting it on fire. Casey made a complete denial.

The coroner's jury held that Casey came to his death as a result of a bullet wound at the hands of Herman Casey. Both Casey and Wood were held without bail for the August 18 term of court at Kinross, when both will go on trial on charges of first-degree murder.

Two men were fatally shot and three others were wounded when officers sought to arrest a group of men at a party in Buchanan County, whom they charged with attempting to interfere with the arrest of persons charged with violation of the law. Hysen Dotson, of the same party, was killed. Howard Justus, deputy sheriff, was seriously wounded.

State Motor Vehicle Director, T. McCaskey, issued an order last week forbidding employees in his department to give out any further "inside information" which has commercial value. The order was issued after the discovery that commercial firms had been getting such data under the regime of James M. Hayes, Jr., Mr. McCaskey's predecessor in office. It was learned that a representative of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey had for four years been supplied with monthly sales reports of all the rival oil companies in the State. This list was supplied at the direction of Mr. Hayes. In an office, it was learned that information was given to Hill Directory Company and Central Insurance men.

Virginia Republicans will meet in convention on August 30th at Roanoke, to choose a National Monument to oppose Carter Glass for reelection in November. G. O. P. officials declare that a "half-dozen" prominent State Republicans are ready to make the race, if called upon to do so. They do not make any pretense, however, as to their chances of defeating Senator Glass. Decision to put a candidate in the field was reached at a conference of the Republican State Central Committee at Roanoke.

Hard work by fifty convicts released from their cells to fight the blaze, enabled the authorities of the State Farm in Greencastle County to prevent a fire from spreading to the home of Superintendent R. R. Penn. The blaze, which started in the hay stored in the horse barn and is believed to have had its origin in spontaneous combustion, destroyed the barn and an adjacent shed. One horse also perished.

Heat records were broken over the week-end when the mercury climbed to 107 at Charlottesville, the hottest day for all time at that point, and to 104 at Roanoke, 102 at Richmond and 101 at Norfolk. The entire State sweltered, those sections where there has been a prolonged drought being especially hard hit. Citizens were too limp even to inquire of their friends "Is it hot enough for you?"

Mrs. Herbert Hoover has purchased from E. B. Clure of Madison, Va., two little white chairs for the use of her grandchildren, Peggy and Herbert III, aged 4 and 2, respectively, and children of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoover, Jr.

Charges of abducting Miss Mary Frances McClenney, of Richmond, and carrying her off to Waynesboro, filed against Harry Dickinson, of Richmond, filing station employees, were continued to August 1st.

Clare is the great-grandson of James Osborne Clure, who began making hand-made furniture in a mountain hollow near Madison 100 years ago. Clure operates his "factory" in the mountains near Madison, not far from the Hoover's summer camp on the Rapidair. Joseph F. Bolling, of Esmonds, had eleven children in school this year, according to A. L. Bennett, superintendent of schools for Albemarle County. Two attended the high school in Tulsa, Okla., last year, five attended at Ridge School in Albemarle, where their mother teaches, and one is too young to go to school, and four others, the children of Bolling's father by a second marriage, have been taken in his home, following their father's death, and are also at school in Albemarle.

The biological laboratory established by the University of Virginia at Mountain Lake, Giles County, is to be made a permanent station for research and graduate study in botany and zoology. It has been announced from the University. This is the first teaching laboratory for graduate study in botany and zoology, it has been announced from the University. The oldest court seal to be found west of the Blue Ridge Mountains has been placed in a glass case at Winchester, a long with an old-time hand-press, and put on exhibit by Judge Philip Williams directed by the University of Virginia in the Frederick County Circuit Court. The seal has been in almost constant use in the county since 1758. It is of solid silver and is about the size of a British half-crown. The iron press by means of which the imprint of the seal was made on official documents is being exhibited with it. Both are no longer in use, the documents being secured by the most eminent group of men yet to take part in a program of the University of Virginia Institute of Public Affairs, will participate in the trial of the seal on August 3 to Charlottesville on August 3 to Charlottesville for two weeks. It is possible that President Hoover will be on hand on August 4th to take part, while among those who have definitely accepted are Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for President in 1928; Martin J. Insull, public utility magnate; J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation; and J. P. Morgan, Jr., president of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

Gov. Pollard was made a target for photographers while on his trip West, being snapped in Chicago, Denver and Salt Lake City. He spoke at different points both in Utah and Arizona, delivering addresses in all. At the Grand Canyon he discussed the pay-ment of the Federal Government. He found the governor intensely interested in the government reorganization work going into effect in Virginia.

Senator Smoot, with whom Governor Pollard was thrown together in his trip West, expressed himself as being exceedingly proud of his Virginia ancestry. The governor, he believed, was the President of the Mormon church, and he was a Lake City and found that the office of his dignitary far outshone the President of the United States at Washington.

Miss Blanche White, executive secretary of the woman's Baptist Missionary Union, of V. Y. W. as a visitor, at the Baptist parsonage Wednesday night. She spoke at the association at Liberty Baptist church Thursday afternoon.

Old Rocks church covered herself with new laurels this week when she entertained the great Baptist host which has sembled there yesterday and today in 126th session of the Appomattox Baptist association. It is said over one thousand visitors were fed and housed at the church. The address of Mr. S. J. Thompson, on Relief and Annuity of Ministers was the subject of much favorable comment.

Just 146 Henrico trial justice court because of the inability of Miss McClenney to appear in a mountain hollow near Madison 100 years ago. Clure operates his "factory" in the mountains near Madison, not far from the Hoover's summer camp on the Rapidair. Joseph F. VA'S GOVERNOR HONORED. Returning from the Governor's Conference which met this year at Salt Lake City, Governor Pollard brought with him a keen appreciation of the high regard in which Virginia is held by the executives of her sister States. The Conference, says Governor Pollard, will be the occasion of the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington. The conference was unanimous in its approval of this selection.

Governor Pollard was deeply impressed with the great beauty of Zion Park, of the Grand Canyon and of other marvels viewed by him in the far west. This was especially true of what is known as the Great White Throne, in Zion National Park, which is a sheer and precipitous mountain side of white stone which rises in naked majesty to heaven. Governor Pollard was deeply impressed with the spectacle of the Governor of West Virginia is said to have remarked: "This is the first time, and probably may be the last, that we governor will assemble at the Great White Throne." He may be right at that.

Although among the more recently elected executives, the Governor of Virginia was accorded the distinction of being placed upon the executive committee of the National Association of Governors and Presidents. Governor Pollard was also present with a gavel made from the wood of a tree planted by Brigham Young, the first governor of Utah, and bound and trimmed with silver and copper from mines in Utah. The gavel to Hon. J. C. Pollard, Governor of Virginia, by the S. A. R. (Sons of the American Revolution), June 30, 1930.

Affection, Then Science. Warnings Against Reds. Sarnoff Sees Ahead. Racketeer Thoroughness.

Dr. Frankel, learned Metropolitan Life expert, says the philosophic mind rules the child best. Between the ages of three and fifteen, according to Dr. Frankel, each child goes through all the various stages through which the human race as a whole has passed, from the Stone Age to the present day.

"The philosophic mind," knowing that a young child is a young barbarian, and cannot be anything else, does not foolishly expect too much, and, for the child to be a hypocrite.

However, one thing is more important in the bringing up of children than the philosophic mind, or anything else, and that is affection, and especially the love of a mother.

No science can take the place of that. It is to the child's expansion and healthy growth what food is to the body. There is no substitute.

Mr. Elihu Root, very able man, advocates a special national police to keep track of "reds," Communists, by secret means, according to Mr. Root, "aim at the destruction of our government."

The Government should keep itself informed concerning the activities of all secret societies, no matter what their character. The less serious in a republic, the better.

And while a special national police might discourage activities of "reds," prosperity would discourage them more.

What culture is to malaria, prosperity is to Communism. When men have something to divide, they lose their interest in dividing.

Bobby Jones has taught an anti-gambling lesson to Lloyd's, the great British insurance company. At the beginning of this golf season Lloyd's, which takes all kinds of wagers, bet 50 to 1 that Bobby Jones would not win the four great golf championships in succession.

Now he has won three of them, and those that bet against him seeking to insure themselves against loss, regret that Lloyd's bet that Jones would not win his fourth match.

Lloyd's says "No, it will cost you one thousand pounds to get a thousand pounds insurance against Jones' victory," which means that the victory is considered certain.

David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America, like all successful men, has imagination as well as brains. He believes that television, providing "a theatre for every home, at home," is the stage may be only a call, and a certain the screen, is, I believe, the greatest promise of the new era of electrical entertainment.

Mr. Sarnoff sees in the latest gift of science to the human race the promise of a "new culture." 10,000,000 homes in the United States now "devour" nightly upon the programmes of the radio for family entertainment.

Mr. Sarnoff, young and remarkably able, believes that this generation will see the greatest actors, orators, poets and singers moving and heard through their homes. That is modern magic.

According to science, we all came from the ocean. The little germ of earth life first started as in the salt sea. It developed. Some enterprising sea-dweller crawled or was washed ashore. Then earth life began, and that developed, through evolution. Some ran, some hopped, some climbed. Some burrowed in the ground. Some flew, and became birds. They stopped thinking then because flying made no sense. The weakest of them, with small teeth, useless nails, not much strength and little speed and to use their brains. That's how we arrived. Science tells you that.

And to this day human beings, and many other animals, tend to go back to the sea at intervals. The ocean attracts them. Some want to be buried in it, many are unhappy unless they are about on it. Others want their bodies burned and ashes scattered in the salt water.
